USE OF PARTS LISTS AND EXPLODED VIEW ILLUSTRATIONS

- The necessary replacement part should be sought from the exploded drawing of the pertinent section of the instrument. Remember that the exploded view parts that are shaded  can only be supplied as unitized blocks.
- The exploded drawing numbers correspond to the drawing reference numbers in the parts lists on the page opposite.
- From the parts list record the part number and the part name.
- When ordering parts, not only the part number and name, but also the instrument name and serial number should be provided.
- Improved part substitutions will in certain instances result in part number changes without prior notice.

NOTE: The numbers indicated in the parts list "Qty" column indicate the quantity of the designated part incorporated in a single instrument. However, for reference ease some parts may appear twice or more in the parts lists.

CAUTION

The Parts List is intended for exclusive use by technical service personnel authorized by Fuji Photo Film Co., Ltd. (including personnel to whom technical servicing is commissioned by Fuji Photo Film Co., Ltd.) and is included alone or together the operation and service manuals in one combined volume in each packing of equipment.

To avoid possible electric shock or other personal injury, anyone else but the authorized technical service personnel must in no case be allowed to attempt to gain access to the interior of the equipment by screwing the cover or other parts off, using the Parts List as a guide.

Use of the Parts List by anyone else but the authorized technical service personnel should be forbidden.
